THE PINE DRIVE originated in the early plans of the Chowan College campus. Today, after approximately sixty years these pines that line both sides of the driveway entering the historic college campus have grown to giant statue.

The pine driveway is without doubt the most lovely natural driveway to be found anywhere in this section of North Carolina. Upon approaching the College it provides for the visitor an excellent prelude to the school's beautiful wooded campus.

It is in this historic natural setting that the new personnel of Chowan begins its job of equipping the school with better facilities in order to offer the latest and best to the youth of Northeastern North Carolina.
